Town Needs No Police

Blairmore's Police Duties To Be Handled By The Secretary-Treasurer

The regular meeting of the city fathers on Monday night was as usual well attended and productive of a no less dramatic air.

All the councillors were present and each seemed proud of their first opportunity of reporting in the capacity of committee chairman. Several communications were read and received, as also a couple of small accounts.

Considerable discussion took place over the placing of debenture bonds, and the secretary was asked to give a fourteen-days option to an applicant firm for $15,000 at a rate of 94.

A letter from Mayor Oumette, of Coleman, was received, referring to the matter of poll taxes, and asking that Blairmore co-operate with the neighboring burg in securing legislation granting permission to collect poll taxes in these towns. It was shown that upwards of $1200 has been collected in one enough to cover the salary of the town clerk, and it was estimated that if the poll taxes could be collected in Blairmore where the population is much more transient than at Coleman, at least $2000 could be derived from that source.

Beisco-Drain—That the town co-operate with Coleman in seeking such legislation. Carried.

McLeod-Beebe—That the Secretary-Treasurer notify Jas. R. Irwin that after the expiration of a month's notice his services as town policeman would be no longer required.

Considerable discussion ensued, the mayor suggesting that such a notice should be accompanied by satisfactory reason for such discharge.

Councillor McLeod stated that the ratepayers were complaining that the town was paying too many officials and that he felt the secretary-treasurer could quite easily handle the police work in connection with his present duties, as well as is being done in other towns of the province of equal or more importance than Blairmore and that it was in the interests of the ratepayers to curtail expenses in every possible way. If the secretary should need assistance of any time he could very well employ the services of some one competent to get such work done up with dispatch, which could be done at a cost much less than $100 per month. He also stated that the town was being well patrolled by the Royal North West Mounted Police, and that they were at hand if wanted for any emergency.

Councillor Beebe, when asked his reason for supporting such a motion, stated that he felt duty bound in the interest of the ratepayers to curtail expenses. He failed to see the necessity for a police to handle the small work connected with that department and thought that the secretary-treasurer could manage it in connection with his office.

Councillor McLeod was also of opinion that the police could act as fire chief instead of paying $100 a year to another official.

Other councillors expressed a similar opinion, and the motion on being put to a vote was carried.

McLeod-Drain—That the present fire hall and waterworks supplies be removed to the lots 10 and 20, block 15, purchased by the town, and that the waterworks committee be authorized to take immediate steps for the removal of same.

This motion revived the free site dispute. The mayor ruled that the motion was out of order in that it did not state facts. He said the town had not purchased any lots and that until the case in appeal was settled they could not touch the Malcolm property. He said that if the councillors were willing to go about the matter in a right way that the fire hall could be constructed immediately. He would permit of such a procedure.

When asked what steps were necessary to take in the matter he referred to the original proposal of ex-councillor Farmer and himself to buy the Malcolm lots with a view to selling same to advantage, to also accept the offer of a free site for a fire hall and town offices and a nuisance ground from the West Canadian Collieries. He felt they would be doing justice to the rate-payers of the town by so doing, and considering the West Canadian's offer as being worth $3,000 he would not allow such a big advantageous proposition to fall through without submitting to the vote of the ratepayers.

Councillor Drain thought that the mayor could not conscientiously consider the free site as a better location for fire hall and town offices than the Malcolm property, and he would never place himself on record as in favor of it. He thought that a recent example was sufficient to prove the utter disadvantage of the free site location, when the firemen were obliged to stop with the hose reel three or four times in endeavoring to reach Mr. Pegg's residence, and that but for the assistance of Mr. Hinds' auto they may only have arrived in time to see the smouldering ruins. Had the firemen in this case to come from the vicinity of the free site, they might as well have repaired with their cameras to the roof of the Cosmopolitan and secure views of a beautiful flame.

The chairman of the Water and Works committee, Mr. Brisco, was requested to attend to water connection of the Alberta Livery, and also the Liqueur Store. The meeting closed at 10 o'clock.

To Build a $10,000 Block

Fine Solid Brick Bonded Warehouse on Ninth Avenue For Wholesale Liquor Co.

The latest move in Blairmore business circles is the formation of a company to be known as the Murphy & Frayer Liquor Company, Limited, who have already made application for the transfer to itself of the wholesale license granted last year to Messrs. Murphy & Frayer.

It is the intention of the new company to at once start the erection and equipment of a modern bonded warehouse, which will outclass anything of the kind in Southern Alberta.

We understand that an outlay of about $10,000 will be expended on the new warehouse, which will be a modern two-story solid brick building on a solid concrete basement, and planned along the most modern principles.

Part of the equipment of the building will be two large elevators, operated between the basement and the top floor. The new warehouse is located on Ninth Avenue just north of the present premises of the company, and when completed will be one of the finest structures in the town.

Work will commence at an early date and it is expected to have the building completed early in the year.

This new bonded warehouse will be to the Crows' Nest Pass what a similar establishment at Calgary has been to the whole province, and in consequence the trade of The Pass will be confined to The Pass, with Blairmore as the chief centre of distribution.

Pulp And Paper

Magazine of Canada

The New Year number of this Magazine, published by the Industrial and Educational Press, Ltd., Toronto, has just come off the press. It is the largest and most complete of its kind in the Dominion. It contains a wealth of information on all matters pertaining to the pulp and paper industry.

The year's progress and development are fully reviewed in this number, and many valuable articles are contributed.

Mr. H. S. Ross, K.C., of Montréal, writes an able and exhaustive resume of the workmen's Com-penetration Act of Quebec, with references to those of other countries.

John Norris, of the American

Newspaper Association has a timely paper write up on the matter of interest in the newspaper world.

The new mills of Price Bros. &

Co., Ltd., are fully described in an elaborate illustrated article by the editor. The new development of utilization of wood waste for gas producers is discussed by E. B.

Archibald, B. Sc., of Montreal.

Mr. R. H. Campbell, the able director of the Forestry Branch

outlines the Dominion Forestry policy.

The Canadian water powers, timber regulations, pulp and paper trade, exports and imports,

and the entire condition of the trade and its many ramifications

are thoroughly dealt with. All this, with the numerous specially contributed technical articles for pulp and paper mill men, combine to make the Pulp and Paper

Magazine a true fulcrum of its industry. "A Magazine devoted to the science and practice of the manufacture of pulp and paper,

with up-to-date news of the allied trades."

Indian Nom-de-Plumes

The Michel Reporter says:

"Many Alberta notables have passed through Ekko on their way to visit the Kootenay Indians, Tobacco

Plains, chief Butler in command.

Little Plume, Bull Pen and wife,

Mouse and wife, Little Girl and wife, White Cow and wife, Jim

Rabbit and wife, No Good Horse

The first goal was scored in favor of the visitors, clearly followed by a tally by the locals,

and before the half-time Calgary managed to put another past watchman Ford. This last was the subject of a little dispute,

it being claimed that the party

who shot the goal kicked the puck

several times contrary to rules,

but which the visitors claimed was thoroughly in accord with the rules of the O. H. A.

Goldard scored the goal for Blair-

more in a long shot from about the centre of the rink.

In the second half the locals certainly put up an admirable game and for about ten minutes kept a puck play around the visitors' fortesse. Unfortunately, however, the apparatus at the electric light plant ceased to supply

"juice," and the game was called off without a finish.

However, the big "millionaire"

team of Calgary were given a right

local welcome and treatment in the "Hub," which they can in future look back upon with pleasure, and there is no doubt but that when our local team plays a return game in the city on Friday, January 24th, they will be given as good a reception and bring back the championship honors.

The lineups were as follows:

Calgary—E. Sessmith, D. Manner, C. McCarthy, F. McCarthy,

Terry McGovern, F. McHugh and

R. W. Bishop.

Blairmore—A. Ford, S. Lewis,

C. Lewis, W. Goddard, W. Turner,

S. Bourke and E. Paul.

H. G. Hanson, of Blairmore

referred the game.

Found Gold in Ducks

Edmonton, Alta., Jan. 14.—When

R. W. Meredith, a farmer at Woodland, 11 miles southwest of here,

discovered ducks for the local market

yesterday he found in the stomachs

of several birds lake gold, seven of the pieces measuring from a sixteenth to an eighth of an inch diameter. As the Meredith farm is three miles from the Saskatchewan river, where gold is being washed out of gravel, it is hardly likely that the ducks picked up the flakes while feeding in the stream. However, it is probable that the yellow metal was found nearby. Ernest Ott son-in-law of Mr. Meredith, is arranging with two seasoned prospectors to make test drilling on the land next spring. He is of the belief that it contains strata of gold-bearing sands. Farmers in other parts of the district also intend making explorations.

Buildings in Edmonton today that the program for 1913 will be millions of dollars to meet the needs of the settlers in the newly opened agricultural districts and other sections of the public highway of 420 miles concrete. At present, the road is in a state of decay, and it is being replaced by a new road,

which will be built by the city of Edmonton. Other roads will be built this year.

"An idea of the extent of the roads

built by the Government since the establishment of the province in 1905

is given, "Mr. Mitchell said, "when it is known that the deputy minister of public works last year travelled more than 5,000 miles over government highways.

"The unprecedented activity in road building during the last few years has been one of the chief causes of difficulty in the way of establishing convenient public highways as the opening of a new branch line and the springing up of a new town, has frequently changed the trend of travel and increased the urgent work for the department, besides involving the outlay of large sums of money."

by Judge Crawford, in the district court Saturday, of stealing on November 1, a registered mail package containing $775 from the MacLeod post office, and on Nov.

7th from the same place, a regis-

The Spending Show How One May Get the Things He Wants.

THE Spendly wanted an automobile.

They could not afford one.

Still, they recalled, they had saved $2,000 by staying home from Europe that summer.

No they bought the car.

"Shall we go to the theater tonight?"

Spendly asked.

"We can't afford to," says his wife.

"We have barely enough money this month to meet our bills."

"But $2. of that money is what we saved by not dining in New York last Tuesday."

So they go to the theater.

One of these days the Spendlys will yearn for an ornamental rug.

"But there's no use to think about it this year," they will sigh.

Then a happy thought will strike them.

"We might buy a piano, which we don't need at all, and then send back and buy the rug with the money that we save by not buying the piano."

So they will get the rug.

Reader, you and I know the Spendly don't get the piano.

Invariably.

If there's anything that gives a physician the feeling of that great disgust it is this—to have a layman pretend to a knowledge of medicine and insist on talking about it.

Only one other thing makes a doctor fonder, and that is to have a layman talk metaphysics.

"You doctors know a lot about disease, or at least you pretend that you do," chorried a glib, glib you know nothing whatever of the great mystery of death.

"Tardon me," mildly objected the practitioner, neutralizing his spees.

"He, he, he. What do you know about that?"

"You really know the thinnest thing about it?"

"Yes, young man. We are absolute sure of one thing."

"What's that?"

"We have discovered that it is invariably fatal."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Mutual Revelations.

The din of their wedding bells still rung in their ears, for it was only the second day of their married bliss.

So, premarry happy, they were well satisfied with one another, and no cloud had obscured the vista of their little earthly paradise.

"Hubby," she murmured tremulously, "you love me dearly, don't you?"

"More than life itself," he declared passionately.

"And no personal defect in me would ever cause you love to lessen, would it, hubby?"

He agreed that such was the case.

"Oh, sweet one," she cried despondently, "I have just one confession to make."

"Thank goodness," he responded fervently. "Now I can cool my burning brow."

And with that remark he doffed the wig.—Answer.

Japanese Hash.

"Speaking of Wai-wai's Japan, now schoolboy of thirty-five," said a San Francisco newspaper man, "he reminds me of our cook. My wife went into the kitchen the other morning and asked Togo what we were going to have for breakfast."

"Hash, my darling," Togo replied very solemnly.

"My wife explained that he had made a mistake in his English, but Togo was perfectly positive that he had been taught this phrase at school. Next day he brought her his song book and triumphantly showed her 'Hash, My Darling, Go to Sleep.'—Saturday Evening Post.

PIMPLES THICKLY SCATTERED ON FACE

In Bad Condition. Pimples Large. Face Sore and Itchy. Looked Badly. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Two Weeks.

Muncie, Ontario.—"Some time ago my face was in a very bad condition with some kind of pimples. The pimples were thickly scattered. The tops of them were white; matter was in them. They were very large and my face was very sore and itchy and looked badly. I had to scratch to be comfortable and sometimes lost my sleep. The sores lasted about two months and I tried some ointments but they didn't do me any good. Then I sent for some Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, used them for two weeks and I was completely cured." (Signed) Alex. B. Oke, April 2, 1912.

I washed the parts with Cuticura Soap and then I put the Cuticura Ointment on them. It took about a week as far as it goes."

Why?

The sunshine smiles and dies away. The planets circle through the sky. Each hour fades into yesterday.

The schoolboy heads the ringing bell. And we can only murmur, "Why?"

Useful Animal.

It seems that little Jesse had written her first "composition." The subject of this literary effort was "The Cow." The essay was brief and to the point. It read as follows: "The cow is a very useful animal."

Jesse's parents were very proud of this masterpiece, and when the minister came to dinner on the following Sunday afternoon they persuaded her to read it to him. She did it, but she amended it a bit to suit the occasion: "The cow is a very useful animal except religion."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

VIOLINIST PLAYS IN CAGE

Scared by Black Hand, He Takes Strange Precautions.

It is reported that no nervous man can play the violin.

The violinist has been since early in last week received a letter from the Black Hand, that he only appears on the platform in a solid iron and steel cage.

The letter, it may be remembered, demanded a sum of $10,000, threatening the violinist with death if he did not comply.

As a result M. Minitzky, the Russian violinist, was furnished with a pair of Browning pistols.

The police have arrested a Russian named Minitzky, the violinist, who is believed to be the author of the letter. He, however, refuses to disclose the names of the Black Hand gang.

Not Like Casey.

Once there was a switchman named Casey. He was a rare free fellow and he loved his life.

One night a bridge was swept away and Casey knew that a heavy passenger train would soon be coming. He grabbed his lantern, ran down the track, signalled the train to stop, and brought it to a stop. But he lost his own life in the effort.

The passengers poured out. They were grateful for what Casey had done, and they wanted to show their appreciation to some way. T. J. found out that Casey had no relatives, and so they decided to get a life size oil painting of him in his working clothes, the Railway Y.M.C.A. at Central.

When the picture came it showed him in his working clothes, the Railway Y.M.C.A. at Central.

Well, it was done, but before they accepted it the director of the Y.M.C.A. pal to pass a judgment. The pal looked at the picture critically. He surveyed it from the different sides. And then, not satisfied, he reached out his hand to touch Casey's.

Don't do that, shouted the artist. He isn't dry.

Casey's pal drew back, and with a look of supreme disgust he answered: Well, if he isn't dry, it ain't Casey.

A BRAVE LITTLE TAILOR

Rescues Serbian Flag From Turks When Soldiers Wavered.

The greatest hero of the battle of Kumanova, according to the French newspapers, was a little Jewish tailor named Abraham Levy.

The standard-bearer fell, and the regiment wavered and was about to retreat when the little Jewish tailor rushed forward, caught the flag, and dashed with it to the trenches.

His comrades, electrified by his example, followed him and the Turks were hurled from their position at the point of the bayonet.

In a certain town of Nebraska lives a man who has been so unfortunate as to lose three wives, who were buried side by side. For a long time the economist Nebraska deliberated as to whether he should erect a separate headstone for each, commemorating her name, but he was deterred by the difficulty presented. He had no Christian name of each, and he was on a small stone—Mary, Elizabeth, Matilda—a hand out at each stone pointing to a large stone in the center of the lot, and under each hand the words: For spirit see large stone.

A lecturer was enforced by a man to the audience who insisted on raising and asking questions.

Sit down, you ass! said a second man, jumping up.

Sit down, you ass, cried a third man, who are both asses.

There seem to be plenty of asses about tonight, but in the lecture hall, for heaven's sake let us hear one at a time.

Well, you go on, then said the first man, resuming his seat.

A Cleveland corporation lawyer has a new stenographer—the second new one this week. Strange to say he didn't discharge the first one because she was incompetent, but because she was too good. Let him tell it.

"This girl came to me yesterday and she said she had a letter I dictated a test letter for her extremely rapid and accurate. So I employed her and she said she fell right in with the work and I decided that I had found a treasure. But on the third day she gave me a shock."

I was dictating an opinion in a complicated infringement suit, and it was important that it should be accurate in every word and phrase. This was the third draft I had written, and at one place I interpreted myself and said to the stenographer:

"Am I speaking too fast for you, Miss Jackson?"

Are you getting me right, she answered, smiling. And you don't speak nearly as fast as I can take. I'm about twenty words ahead of you."

There's such a thing as being too good.

Very Much Alive.

An Irishman, with one side of his face badly swollen, stepped into Dr. Hurford's office and inquired if the dentist was in.

"I am the dentist, said the doctor.

"Well, then, I want to know if you can tell me what's the matter with my teeth?"

The doctor examined the offending molar and explained: The nerve is dead; that's what's the matter."

"Then, be the powers, the Irishman exclaimed, the other teeth must be holding a wake over it."

ATTACKED BY A LION

Managerie Attendants Gave Keeper From Terrible Death.

There was an anxious moment of wild excitement among the spectators at a menagerie at Montmartre last night when a lion sprang on a tamer, Harold Amar, and buried his claws in his face and shoulder.

Two lions in the cage were released to go through the customary exercises, and when the tamer began to use his whip one of the animals struck him to the ground. The menagerie servants rushed to his aid and beat off the lion with bars of iron.

The tamer was taken to a hospital and his wounds dressed and returned swathed in bandages to the menagerie. The animals then proceeded more tractable and went through their performance.

Dangerous Talk

Mother, I wish you wouldn't mention disavowing when George is calling on me.

Why not, indeed? It sounds common. I don't like it. I wish to eat don't you?

Of course. And George knows we eat and use dishes.

That's very true. And George also knows that dishes have to be washed, therefore some body has to wash them.

But mother—

What now?

If you keep on talking about it, George may discover that you make father wish there were no more of the same thing is coming to him.

He should propose to me.

The transition from winter's cold to summer's heat frequently puts a strain upon the system that produces internal complications, always painful and often serious. A common form of disorder is dysentery, to which many are prone in the spring and summer.

The very best medicine to use in subduing this painful ailment is WATERBURY'S remedy.

It is a standard remedy, old everywhere.

Wife—What is meant, John by the phrase, carrying coals to Newcastle?

Husband—It is a metaphor, my dear, signifying the doing of something that is unnecessary.

Wife—I don't exactly understand. Give me an illustration—a familiar story.

Husband—Well, it is for me to bring you home a bucket filled with coals that would be carrying coals to Newcastle.

RARE GEMS STOLEN

Thieves Lost Jeweller's Shop In Paris a theft of about $50,000 worth of jewelry was carried out with extraordinary daring and in less than five minutes in a jeweller's shop at the corner of the Place de l'Opera in Paris, early yesterday morning.

A fortnight ago the Societe Generale gave up its little branch office next door to the shop of M. Clero, the jeweller, at No. 4 Place de l'Opera. The jeweller took over the premises of the bank to increase his own space, and the wall between the two buildings is partly down.

The lunatics made by the police led them to believe that the thief spent the night in the premises which recently belonged to the Societe Generale.

Opportunity came when at 7 o'clock this morning the watchman went outside the jeweller's shop to wind up the iron shutter. Then the thief made his slip through the shop through the hole in the wall, and effected the most daring of jewelry stealing ready to his hand.

Whether this theory be true or not, there is no doubt that the thieves cleared away with many valuable rings and a diamond necklace and other jewelry to the value of $50,000.

HER MEMORY LOST

Woman Put Into Hypnotic Trances In Effort to Discover Her Identity

A very strange case has been the mystery of the identity of a young Englishwoman in Paris who completely forgot her name eighteen months ago is still unsolved.

Tall and slim, blue eyes, chestnut hair and a bright, happy disposition, this young Englishwoman when I saw her recently, appeared to be about 30 years of age.

She is supposed to have lost her memory as the result of a shock.

One time, when Dr. M. Menard, the eminent nerve specialist in charge of the case, put her into hypnotic trances, she gave the name of Alice Meadows, but on several occasions she has declared that her real name is Winifred Courtney Henderson.

In her trances she never answered to any name but Winifred.

This statement appears to be confirmed by the fact that she has a trunk bearing the initials H. C. H.

These letters are supposed to represent the name of an uncle, Herbert Courtney Henderson.

The woman says that she was born in India and that she remembers still the Bombay, and that her father and uncle were officers in the British army.

She also remembers a certain Captain Andrews who used to visit her family.

In her childhood, she says, she had a governess called Betty Davidson, who fell to describe his sufferings as well as the gratitude he expressed to express for the cure.

Mr. Alex. J. Stone, West Point, N.Y., writes: "I suppose you have heard that I got Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, but I haven't. You must expect me to be a little bit of a slow found man. I have not much education, but I want to thank you many times for your medicine."

"I cannot tell you what I suffered from liver and kidney derangement, indigestion and constipation, nor can I find words to express how much good this medicine has done me. I feel better than I have for five years and have given some of these pills to my friends who tell me they need them a wonderful lot of good. I want to express my heartfelt gratitude for the benefit derived from the great medicine."

ILLNESS OF THE CZAREVICH

Malady of the Middle Ages With Strange Plots and Rumors in Russia a recent pronouncement of the czar's physicians concerning the illness of the czar's son—the boy is a hemophilic or a blooder—is the subject of interesting comment in the current issue of the Hospital.

It is stated that this strange and terrible malady, whose victims bleed excessively after comparatively slight injuries, has occurred at intervals among the aristocratic and noble families since the middle ages, and that at present many princes are suffering from it.

In popular language, the victims of this constitutional tendency to bleed excessively have been said to have only one skin instead of three. The truth is, of course, that hemophiliacs have just as many skins as any one else (to wit, one); but that their blood lacks to a greater or lesser degree that power of coagulation or clotting which in normal persons leads to natural arrest of hemorrhage after any except very serious injury to large blood vessels.

At the present time it would seem that hemophilia is more prevalent than ever among princes. The late duke of Albany suffered from it, and eventually died of it. The second son of the king and queen of Spain is said to be afflicted by it, and he is consequently deaf in consequence of hemorrhage into the internal ear.

Rumors are also current that the Hohenzollerns are not exempt from it, and that some of Queen Mary's relatives suffer from hemophilia to a slight degree. The disease hardly ever occurs in females; but it is handed down almost exclusively through the female line.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Like many another Newfoundland-er living far from doctors, Mr. Stone writes to Dr. Chase of the good results obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"KITCHENER" OF TURKEY

Held His Own Against Bulgarians

In title, Nasim Pasha, the Turkish Minister of War, and commander of the army defending Constantinople, is now known as the "Kitchener of Turkey."

He is rated the best soldier in Turkey.

The Pasha's defence of Constantinople is a great surprise to the European powers, who predicted an easy victory for the Bulgarians.

Whether, when the tumult of war died down, Constantinople shall be left in the hands of the Turks, or shall be handed over to one of the nations which have bailed their way to its gates or shall be ruled by a commission of the powers is one of the principal vexed questions arising out of the Turkish-Balkan war.

So much depends upon its proper settlement that it cannot be regarded lightly.

Snapshot of Sultan Mohammed V., Leading the Royal Palace in His Carriage

Constantinople is one of the largest cities of the world. Its population is well over a million, of whom two-thirds are Mohammedans. The remainder are divided among a great number of nationalities, for Constantinople is regarded as the most cosmopolitan city in the world.

There were gathered men and women from every part and near corner of the earth. The city is also of great commercial importance and under progressive civilization rule would become a leading center.

A Simple and Cheap Medicine.

A simple, cheap and effective medicine is something to be desired. There is no medicine so effective a regulator of the digestive system as Parnell's Vegetable Pills. They are simple, they are cheap, they can be got anywhere, and their beneficial action will prove their recommendation. They are the medicine of the poor man and the rich man alike.

And gradually the light faded. It was essential his wicket should be captured, so closer crept the fielders, till at last there was scarcely breathing room.

Most of the spectators had gone home or gone to sleep. But suddenly on the up the batsman made a voice from the pavilion.

Look out, Jack! sounded the warning cry. They're all around you! Take care you don't get your pocket picked.

When the Name Became Known, his fellow-clerks gathered around and congratulated him.

But, said one man doubtfully, I understand the girl you're engaged to is a little bit of a slow found man.

Arthur Shearer was a Calgary visitor last week.

George and Luther Goodwin
are working at Hillcrest.

Mr. Hinesline of the Bellevue
hotel visited Calgary this week.

The Government inspector of mines was a visitor in town on Monday.

Jas Cousins is completing the construction of the new Union building.

teacher is away on a month's leave of absence.

crest. He still intends to reside
at Bellevue.

connection with the West Canadian Collieries Co.

Mrs. Fred and Mrs. Wilfrid Wolsterholmes were Blairmore
visitors on Friday.

ter Vera of Barmis were visitors

izer from Edmonton delivered a pects to locate at Medicine Hat.

returned to work at the Bellevue
mine in the capacity of fireboss.

The wrestling match which was to have taken place between Beale

has been called off.

Gas was discovered in the mine on Saturday morning. Also a slight depression in the roof occur-

haulage crew for a shift.

Ike Marsh has sold out his household effects and it is expected that he will leave town.
It is sincerely hoped in football circles that Mr. Marsh will stay with us another season to assist in keeping the Crow's Nest Pass cup
in Bellevue.

The Guzzuk of Barmis who has been suffering from an attack of Hillcrest dementia has focused his attention upon Bellevue. We hope that he will find here more profitable material for his versatile pen. We always knew there was a reason why so real estate men were seen around the run-down burgs. Even the sharks catch that they toil all night and catch nothing. Bellevue is the rendezvous of sportsmen, speculators and every other kind of anti-parasite.

Two Fires at Maple Leaf

Two disastrous fires visited Maple Leaf last week causing serious damage. On Wednesday night the house recently built by John Olus in the rear of Mrs.
Rudd's store took fire at about 7 o'clock in a remarkably short time the entire building with all contents was demolished. The family were out visiting at a neighbors house at the time. For a time it was thought that one of the children was in the house but this proved to be untrue and a great deal of anxiety was relieved.
The family saved nothing but what they had on them. The night was bitterly cold and clear and it took the fire a few moments
to complete its destructive work.
The cause of the fire is unknown.
The loss is partly covered by insurance.

The second fire of the week broke out at about 9:30 p. m. on Friday at the wash house of the Maple Leaf mine caused it is supposed from an overheating of the pipes. As the miners keep their dynamite in their lockers, several heavy explosions occurred, which assisted the flames in their destructive work. The miners who were on shift lost their clothing and were forced to make their way home in their mine clothes. The building, which was only recently erected, was completely destruc-tioned. Mrs. Rhoda McLaren, who last week underwent a successful operation at Calgary for abscess on the brain, returned home Wednesday morning very much improved.

W. H. Murr and G. A. Clair, of the Coleman and Grand Union hotels respectively, were in the Metropolis on Monday, and incidentally admired the red noses and jolly expressions of their numerous friends through the mirbelieved that he will be able to enter into hockey again this season.

A wedding is announced to take place shortly. The contracting parties have either been accustomed to putting people on a string or cementing the ties that bind. However, no one but the two parties interested know anything of the approaching event.

much of a clean sheet for Blair-
more.

On Saturday night a Glen round boxing contest takes place in the local opera house. The contesting parties are Romeo Rinaldi and Jack Greenall, both of whom are recognized "stars" in local pugilistic circles, and should draw a good house. A good six-round preliminary between Danny Dunlop and Gordon Gleave

Express Derailed

Running six miles an hour, No. 514, eastbound express ran into a switch a mile west of Lums on Sunday night and four cars were derailed, including the pullman. The engine and baggage car remained on the track. While a few passengers were shaken and suffered slight contusions, there were only two who had to be taken to the hospital. Pullman Porter A. Morris, colored, suffered a contusion of the head, and was unconscious for a time.

When the cars overturned the dining car crew were all in bed and all suffered a severe shaking-up. Alex Newbauer, a waiter, had his collar bone broken, and a cook, name unknown, had a hip badly bruised. With the exception of Morris and Newbauer, taken to the hospital, the other patients were treated by Burnside doctors.

Persons troubled with partial paralysis are often very much benefited by massaging the affected parts thoroughly when applying Chamberlain's Liniment. This liniment also relieves the rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

ROWE RING-POINT CALKS

Improved Tool-Steel Calks
None so sharp at first, none stay sharp to the last, and last so long. It's the steel blade that makes a good knife. It's the FULL LENGTH TOOL-STEEL CENTER that makes Ring-Point Calks. You can use detachable calks with a wire in the center, and you're out of the calk wears out, and you're out of pocket. The steel center of Ring-Point Calks stays in till worn out. It's welded to the shell. It cannot be driven up by striking stones in the road. It cannot work down, because it's held by the weld. Ring-Point Calks cost less because they save most. You pay but once and have sharp calks always. Don't throw money on the ground and leave it. Don't use old-time bar calks. Don't use center-drop-out wire filled calks. Get your money's worth by using Ring-Point—the ones that never know a dull moment. See me about them today.
